overview

Following the success of the 2022 Colorful Indonesia Festival, the Indonesian Community is proud to return to Carroll Creek Park in Downtown Frederick in partnership with the Asian American Center of Frederick (AACF) to once again celebrate culture, diversity, and community spirit.

This year's event, the Indonesian Culinary Day on the Creek takes place on Saturday, August 2, 2025, as part of the annual Creek Festival. Hosted by AACF and the Indonesian Education and Cultural Network (IDECN), the event celebrates Indonesia's vibrant heritage through food, products, art, and community engagement.

Highlights include an Indonesian Food Bazaar, Product Exhibition, live Cultural Performances, interactive Art & Craft activities, and a lively Marketplace supporting small businesses and artisans.

Open to the public and free to attend, the festival invites visitors from across Maryland and beyond to enjoy the tastes, sights, and sounds of Indonesia, right in the heart of Frederick.

“In partnership with local Indonesian communities and cultural organizations, Indonesian Culinary Day on the Creek fosters cultural exchange by celebrating, connecting, and collaborating. Attendees will have the opportunity to explore Indonesia's rich traditions and modern influences through culinary delight, marketplace, performances, and art & craft”

the venue

Located in the heart of Downtown Frederick, Carroll Creek Park stretches over a mile through the city's historic district.

The Indonesian Culinary Day on The Creek will take place at the park's amphitheater, with a performance stage set against the scenic creek backdrop. The marketplace will line the creek, while the food bazaar and product exhibition will be centered around the amphitheater area.

The park is easily accessible, with multiple entry points, nearby parking garages, and available street parking.

According to Google data, the area is busiest around 4:00 PM on Saturdays, with visitors typically spending up to 45 minutes enjoying the park and its surroundings.

“Downtown Frederick attracts thousands of visitors each weekend, drawn by its historic charm, vibrant dining scene, unique local shops, art gallery, breweries and a distiller and frequent cultural events. The area's walkable layout, scenic Carroll Creek Park, and lively community atmosphere make it a popular destination for both residents and tourists alike.”

event highlight

Food Bazaar

Explore the rich flavors of Indonesia through a curated food bazaar featuring iconic dishes from across the archipelago. Home chefs and culinary entrepreneurs will serve up favorites like rendang, satay, and martabak, sharing cultural stories through every bite.

Marketplace

Shop a lively marketplace filled with Indonesian snacks, spices, crafts, jewelry, and more. Support small businesses while enjoying authentic products and meaningful conversations with vendors from the Indonesian Diaspora.

Exhibition

Discover the beauty of Indonesian craftsmanship with an exhibition of batik, traditional fashion, and home décor. Indonesian-owned businesses will showcase unique products and share insights into tourism, education, and cultural heritage.

“Join us for a vibrant celebration of Indonesian culture with delicious culinary delights , marketplace and exhibition, interactive performances, and art & craft to Celebrate, connect, collaborate, and build relationships within the Indonesian community!”

Cultural Performances

Enjoy live performances of traditional dance and music from various regions of Indonesia. Audiences can also join interactive cultural experiences like angklung play-alongs and gamelan introductions.

Interactive Art & Craft

Get hands-on with Indonesian art through batik painting, puppet-making, and children's crafts. Artisans will offer live demos and invite guests to contribute to a collaborative mural celebrating community and culture.

Target audience

The Indonesian Culinary Day on The Creek is designed to attract a wide and diverse audience, offering valuable exposure for sponsors, vendors, and cultural partners:
